

Lifeguard Code of Ethics

(Dubai Municipality-Public Health & Safety Department, Lifeguard Scheme, Issue 1)

Certified lifeguards must comply with the Code of Ethics during their certification, as set forth below:

As a certified lifeguard, they must perform work in a manner:

- a) Free of bias with regard to religion, ethnicity, gender, age, national origin, and disability.
- b) Place the safety and welfare of public, workers associated with facility operation above all other considerations.
- c) Protect nearby general public property and the environment.
- d) Make management aware if they have safety concerns relating to the life guarding operations that they are performing or witnessed any violation that might affect the safety of the swimmers.
- e) Not violating safety-related regulations, warnings, or instructions set forth by DM, recognized safety standards.
- f) Not misrepresenting or deceiving others concerning my experience or the capabilities of them self or the area they are working in.
- g) Not misrepresent or misusing the certification card or the organization logo, both of which are the property of the certifying authority; and that they understand that they must return the card to the issuing authority immediately if required to do so.
- h) Not performing additional duties while assigned the duty of swimmer protection

If their capability to fulfill the requirements of the role changes, they will inform HSS straight away and understand that the certification may be withdrawn, or the scope reduced.
